3. Accuracy of Information

We strive for accuracy but do not guarantee that information is complete or error-free.

Information provided on our site is provided for general information purpose and does not constitute legal or professional advice. We do not accept liability and responsibility for you relying solely on the information. Use of the site is at your own risk; you should verify any critical information independently. Please contact us directly for advice.

4. External Links and Electronic messages

The website may contain links to third-party sites. We are not responsible for their content or privacy practices. Information you send to us in electronic format may not be secure and will not be treated as privileged or confidential unless you have engaged our services. Please send data to us in encrypted form if you have concerns about its security.

5. Site user relationship

Accessing our site does not constitute a client relationship or deemed a service engagement with us. All client relationships follow our standard client onboarding process. If you wish for us to act for you, you may contact us via email, our site or by calling the phone numbers listed on our site, following which we will determine whether we are able to assist you.

6. Limitation of Liability and disclaimer

Debt On Limited is not liable for any direct, indirect, or consequential losses arising from your use of the website. We do not guarantee uninterrupted access to the website. The information and materials provided on our website are made available without any guarantees, conditions, or warranties regarding their accuracy.

To the fullest extent permitted by law, we expressly exclude:

All warranties, conditions, representations, and other terms that might otherwise be implied by statute, common law, or equity in connection with our website or its content.

Any liability for direct, indirect, or consequential loss or damage suffered by any user in connection with our website or its use, inability to use, or the results of its use. This includes any loss or damage arising from the use of websites linked to ours or materials posted on our site, including (but not limited to):

Loss of income or revenue.

Loss of business, profits, or contracts.

Loss of anticipated savings.

Loss of data.

Loss of goodwill.

Wasted management or office time.

Any other loss or damage of any kind, however arising and whether caused by tort (including negligence), breach of contract, or otherwise, even if foreseeable.

Nothing in this disclaimer limits or excludes our liability for death or personal injury resulting from our negligence, for fraudulent misrepresentation, or for any other liability that cannot be excluded or limited under applicable law.

7. Linking to and from our site

You're welcome to share a link to our homepage, provided it doesn't harm our reputation or misuse our name or content. Please make sure your link doesn't imply that we endorse, sponsor, or are associated with your site unless we have agreed to that in writing. Links should only come from websites you personally own or manage. Our website must not be displayed within another site (for example, through framing or embedding).

We may change or withdraw permission to link to our site at any time, without prior notice.

If you'd like to use or reference any of our materials in another way, please get in touch at info@debton.co.uk.

Our website may include links to external pages or resources managed by other organisations.

These links are provided simply for your convenience or to offer additional information. We don't have control over those external websites and can't take responsibility for their content, accuracy, or how they handle your data. We're also not liable for any loss or damage that may occur as a result of using them.

8. Emails and viruses

Emails we send, including any attachments, are intended only for the person or organisation named in the message. If you receive an email by mistake, please let us know right away and delete it from your system. Please do not copy, share, or use the contents of any email unless you have permission from Debt On Limited.

While we take reasonable precautions, we can't guarantee that our emails are completely free from viruses or other harmful programs. We advise you to check any messages or attachments before opening them. We cannot accept responsibility for any damage or loss caused to your computer systems or data as a result of using our emails.

Emails sent for business purposes are subject to our standard terms of business. If an email appears to contain personal opinions or information unrelated to our services, it should be treated as the sender's own and not as an official communication from us.

We cannot promise that our website is completely secure or free from viruses, bugs, or other harmful elements. It's your responsibility to set up appropriate security measures—such as antivirus software—on your computer, devices, and network before accessing our site.

You must not intentionally introduce viruses, malware, worms, Trojans, logic bombs, or any other harmful material to our website. Attempting to gain unauthorised access to our site, its server, or any connected systems is strictly prohibited. Any attempt to attack or disrupt our site, including through a denial-of-service or distributed denial-of-service attack, is a criminal offence under the Computer Misuse Act 1990. We will report such incidents to the appropriate authorities and cooperate fully with their investigations, including providing any necessary information about those involved.

If you breach these terms, your right to use our website will end immediately.

9. Changes to Terms

We may update these terms at any time. Continued use of the website constitutes acceptance of the updated terms.

10. Governing Law

These terms are governed by the laws of England and Wales.

Any disputes will be subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts.
